KINKY ARMY CHIEFS CAUGHT IN A HIGH-END BROTHEL

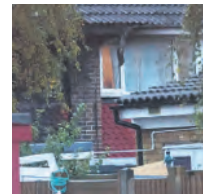

By BRAD CHADWICK

DEFENCE bosses are on alert after military top brass were caught using a high-end brothel.

It's feared that the knocking shop may be a front for Chinese spies, leaving senior officers open to blackmail.

Three men have been arrested for running a brothel and sex trafficking.

Tributes for family killed in house fire

TRIBUTES have been paid to a family who died following a house fire in west London.

Five people believed to be from the same family, including three children, were killed in the blaze in Channel Close, Hounslow, on Sunday evening.

The adults who lived at the home have been named locally as Aroen Kishen and his wife Seema, while one of the children has been named as Riyan.

One man, believed to be Mr Kishen, left the property before emergency crews arrived and was later taken to hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

One person remains unaccounted for.

A tribute left at the scene yesterday from a Mrs Sheldon said: "Words cannot even begin to express our sorrow at hearing the loss of three beautiful souls. Forever in our hearts."

Chickenpox jabs for kids

THE chickenpox vaccine should be introduced on the NHS for children, scientists advising the Government say.

The Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation, which advises UK health departments, said the jab should be given to youngsters in two doses when they are aged 12 months and 18 months.

It said data from countries suggests the vaccine – also known as the varicella jab – would dramatically reduce circulating chickenpox and prevent most severe cases in children.

DEBI DOES DORSET

THUNDERSTORMS and torrential downpours hit southern England after Storm Debi brought wild weather to parts of the UK.

The warning for counties including Dorset, Hampshire and Kent followed heavy rain and wind across northern England and Scotland, with gusts of over 70mph recorded in Wales and Northern Ireland.

Debi is the fourth named storm of this winter so far.

The rain and wind first hit Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland, then Wales, before moving eastwards and into the North Sea.

In Northern Ireland, the storm caused road closures and some disruption to the public transport network. Northern Ireland Energy Networks said about 3,000 customers were without power, mainly around Craigavon, Newry and Downpatrick.

Gusts of up to 77mph battered parts of the Welsh coast after a yellow weather warning across north, mid and west Wales, while winds of 74mph were recorded at Killowen, Northern Ireland, and a earlier. About 100,000 homes and businesses have lost power, with the number expected to rise.

No rest on King's 75th birthday

KING Charles celebrated his 75th birthday yesterday with a business-as-usual approach and the launch of a project to help people facing food poverty.

But it's understood that he got a birthday greeting by transatlantic phone call from his youngest son, Prince Harry.

The King's birthday plans also saw him hosting a reception for NHS nurses and midwives.

Ceremonial gun salutes marked the day, including at the Tower of London.

Public service rather than partying was being emphasised in the King's birthday engagements, although last night there was a private dinner for close family and friends.

Prince Harry, the Duke of Sussex, was not there, but well-placed sources say that the US-based duke put in a birthday phone call to his father.

The phone message might be seen as an olive branch, after claims that there had been no contact with Prince Harry about the birthday plans.

Insiders predict the end for Rishi after reshuffle

BACK IN CABINET: Cameron

TORY insiders yesterday branded Rishi Sunak's reshuffle "rearranging the deckchairs on the Titanic" – with some predicting the PM will be forced to quit by CHRISTMAS.

The new-look Cabinet met for the first time yesterday with new Foreign Secretary David Cameron taking his place at the table, seven years after he quit as PM.

Sunak hailed his "strong and united team" at the meeting following the dramatic reshuffle that saw Lord David Cameron appointed Foreign Secretary and Suella Braverman sacked.

Rishi offered a "warm welcome to those for whom it is their first Cabinet and also a welcome to those for whom it may not be their first time".

He said: "Our purpose is nothing less than to make the long-term decisions that are

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

going to change our country for the better.

"I know that this strong and united team is going to deliver that change for everybody."

The reshuffle, which came after the PM sacked Home Secretary Suella Braverman, has angered some on the Tory right.

Former minister Dame Andrea Jenkyns submitted a furious letter of no confidence in Mr Sunak to the Tory backbench 1922 Committee as a result of the decision.

Deputy Tory chairman Lee Anderson was among headline MPs at a Commons meeting where concerns were shared about Mrs Braverman's ousting after she accused the police of bias.

Conservative former Cabinet minister Sir Jacob Rees-Mogg said the reshuffle would not help the Tories win the next election, suggesting it will benefit the Reform party founded by Nigel Farage.

One insider said: "Sunak is as doomed as my Christmas turkey... he's finished, we're finished, all is lost."

New party chairman Richard Holden sought to play down tensions yesterday, stressing the need to focus on the Labour opposition and pitching his party as a "broad church".

"What we don't do is have small splinter parties ahead of a general election and then a deal cooked up behind the scenes," he told BBC Radio 4's Today programme.

NHS CRISIS WARNING AGAIN

HOSPITAL bosses have issued their traditional winter cash crisis warning.

The warning, from NHS Providers, which represents managers, came after the Treasury rejected pleas for an extra £1bn to cover the cost of strikes.

The NHS winter cash crisis warning is traditionally issued on the first Tuesday after Remembrance Sunday.

Despite the reshuffle, the government managed to issue its equally-traditional assurance that all is well in the NHS.

Minister pointed out the goal to open 10,000 "virtual" hospitals beds had been met.

This is where doctors remotely monitor patients with conditions such as respiratory and heart problems who would otherwise have to be in an actual hospital – with nurses and staff.

Progress was also being made on 5,000 new hospital beds – a 5% increase in numbers, the government said.

"We recognise the challenges the NHS faces over the coming months, which is why we started preparing for winter earlier than ever," a Department of Health and Social Care spokesman added.

Hollywood babe Julia Fox speaks out...

NOT MY FAULT IF I GIVE YOU A HARD-ON!

WARNING:
Busty Julia

By SUZIE SHELDON news@sundaysport.co.uk

IF you get a stiffy looking at Julia Fox's sexy snaps, DON'T blame her!

The model and actress, who posed topless for the cover of Cosmopolitan UK's December/January cover issue, claimed people view her as a "sexual being" because she leaves little to the imagination with her fashion choices.

"Anyone getting mad at me for showing a lot of skin has slapped this label on me as a sexual being," she told the women's mag.

"But I'm so much more than that, and sex is the last fking thing I do with this body. I'm proud of my body. Why wouldn't I wear something revealing, really cool and artsy?"

Fox further slammed those who choose to "interpret" her body as being sexual, adding: "Your boner isn't on me, that's on you!"

The Uncut Gems star, 33, also shared her distaste for women who judge other women.

Objects

"It just really goes to show how even women want other women to stay in line," she said. "Cover up, dress down, dim your light. Women's bodies should be celebrated and shouldn't just be viewed as sexual objects."

Julia also touched on how she wants to use her early encounters with men to help the young women of today.

The beauty, who just released her memoir Down the Drain, said her experiences were "tough to look back at" and that now she understands she was a "victim".

Julia explained: "My early encounters with men are tough to look back at. Same shit, different face... I have an understanding now that I was a victim, but feeling like a victim never feels good."

"It doesn't feel empowering – it felt vulnerable... but in writing about it, I would just power through – I couldn't stop – knowing that I'm not unique in those experiences that so many women go through."

During the chat Julia also touched on her brief courtship with rapper Kanye West in early 2022.

She said she is "constantly having to resist being defined by that" and that the association between them is "annoying".

$300,000 for Jacko jacket

In another infamous ad, pop paedo Jackson's hair caught on fire after an accident on set and he had to be treated for burns.

Shrivalled Shaun snubs celebrity Naked Attraction

SHAUN Ryder says his bits are too shrivalled to appear on a celebrity version of controversial show Naked Attraction.

There have been rumours the Channel 4 show, in which people strip before going on a date, is looking for stars to take part in a celebrity spin-off.

But the Happy Mondays singer, 61 (above), said if he was offered a part on the saucy programme he would have to turn it down.

He said: "If you'd have asked me in my twenties I'd have probably done it. But I ain't going on a show like that at 61 with the fking shrivalled up fking things that I've got now. Fk that."

"And with my alopecia there's no foliage around it, which would help as apparently if you get rid of all your pubes it makes it look bigger."

Water firms to pay out £70m

WATER companies will be forced to pay out a net total of £70million to customers after falling short of performance targets, industry regulator Ofwat has confirmed.

The fines for suppliers accused of underperforming will be passed onto customers through lower bills over 2024 and 2025.

Most companies failed to meet key targets on reducing pollution, leaks and supply interruptions, Ofwat found.

Thames Water will be ordered to pay out the most to its 15 million customer base, of nearly £74million.

TELLY saucepot Amanda Holden has revealed she 'likes a bit of side boob'.

The 52-year-old Britain's Got Talent judge is known for showing off her looks on Instagram – and delivered a SCREW YOU to those who criticise her look.

She has a message for those who criticise her bold fashion choices.

"I like classic pieces but I do like a bit of side boob every now and again," she said.

Despite receiving 235 complaints to Ofcom about one of her dresses, Amanda won't be deterred.

She added: "I think these days you're unable to not offend. So you have to stay true to yourself and wear what you want."

While we'll never truly forgive Amanda for cheating on lovely Les Dennis with Boon scruff Neil Morrissey, she does have a point.

'Nige will do very well in the jungle'

NIGEL Farage "will do very well" on I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! because of his "chutpah," Nadine Dorries has said.

Former Culture Secretary Ms Dorries, 66, appeared on the ITV show in 2012, and was the first sitting MP to take part.

She was suspended by the Tory Party for her appearance and was readmitted in May 2013.

Former UKIP leader and GB News host Farage is among the new crop of celebrities announced for the upcoming series of I'm a Celeb and will be going into the jungle alongside other stars including Britney Spears's sister, the actress Jamie Lynn Spears, This Morning presenter Josie Gibson and JLS singer Marvin Humes.

Appearing on ITV's Good Morning Britain, Ms Dorries was asked if Farage would come out of the jungle "more popular", to which she said: "I think Nigel will do very, very well. He's got the chutpah."

Nepal puts ban on TikTok use

NEPAL has banned China's TikTok as its content is "detrimental to social harmony".

The decision comes days after the country introduced a new rule requiring social media firms to set up liaison offices in the country.

TikTok, which has around a billion monthly users, has been banned by several countries including India.

The platform allows irritating showoffs to share short videos they have created.

Earlier this year, Montana became the first US state to ban it, while the UK Parliament axed it from its network.

Nepal's Minister for Communications and Information Technology, Rekha Sharma, said the platform spread malicious content and that "the ban would come into effect immediately and telecom authorities have been told to implement the decision".

Army chiefs caught in high-class brothel

ALL OUR SECRETS... LITERALLY SPUNKED AWAY

By BRAD CHADWICK
news@sundaysport.co.uk

PANICKING NATO chiefs fear the security of the Western world is in peril, after a high-end brothel network targeting military officials and lawmakers near Washington DC was busted by cops

This week, prosecutors charged three people with running a high-end brothel network in Boston and Virginia, whose customers included elected officials, lawyers and, crucially, military personnel.

It's feared that Army chiefs could have let slip vital military secrets during kinky romps and top spies believe the sex dens may have been infiltrated by agents sent by Russia and China.

Michael Waltz, a Republican congressman from Florida, said that he's "incredibly concerned" about the potential breach of national security through brothel network.

"As member of Intel and Armed Services committees these reports make me incredibly concerned about the security clearance process when our adversaries have a long history of using sex to gather secrets."

Bareback

Prosecutors say they paid up to $600 (£490) per hour for sexual encounters with predominately Asian women who were being exploited through sex trafficking.

The brothels allowed punters to go 'bareback' – without a condom – and offered anal, spanking, watersports and rimming.

A source said: "This has the makings of a security disaster. Our secrets could have been spunked away – literally."

US Attorney Josh Levy announced charges against the alleged operators, Han Lee, 41, and Junmyung Lee, 30, of Massachusetts and James Lee, 68, of California.

As well as locations in Massachusetts, Virginia and California being raided, the government have also seized two websites tied to the ring.

Levy said: "This sex ring was built on secrecy and exclusivity, catering to well-connected clientele."

"They are doctors, they are lawyers, they're accountants, they are executives at tech companies, pharmaceutical firms, they're military officers, government contractors, professors, scientists."

"Pick a profession, they're probably represented in this case. Business is booming, until today."

SAM & JOSIE LEAD JUNGLE BETTING

SAM Thompson has been picked as the early favourite to be crowned king of the jungle ahead of the new series of I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here!

The new batch of celebrities are due to enter camp on Sunday night during the launch episode, as the gruelling reality show kicks off its 23rd series.

Bookies have already predicted that Made In Chelsea star Sam, 31, will be a firm favourite with viewers after shooting to stardom on the E4 show. While Sam is currently the favourite to win with 10/3 odds, he faces tough competition from jockey Frankie Dettori, who is rumoured to be entering at a later date.

Josie Gibson is also entering as near the head of the betting with odds at 4/1.

Josie won the hearts of the nation during her time on Big Brother in 2010, before going on to secure a coveted daytime role on This Morning as a stand-in presenter.

Animal sex vid pervert banded up

A PERV who tried to sell videos of himself and his partner having sex with dogs will now head to prison for nearly four years.

Timothy Lewis Blackmon, 45 (above), was sentenced to 46 months in prison after pleading guilty in June to distributing an "animal crush" vid.

Blackmon, of Walkertown, North Carolina, advertised home videos of himself having sex with dogs, as well as a video of his partner – who pretends to be a woman – who'd cheated on him and was forced to perform a sexual act with a pit bull as punishment.

The partner, Tracy Lynn Abbott, pleaded guilty in August 2022 to two counts of crimes against nature and was handed a suspended sentence of three to 13 months in jail.

As part of his probation terms, Blackmon must undergo substance abuse treatment.

He is also not allowed to own pets or to care for anyone else's animals.

Now AI comes up with new tartan

A KILTMAKER has used the artificial intelligence tool ChatGPT to design a new tartan, and it's already been accepted onto the official Scottish Register.

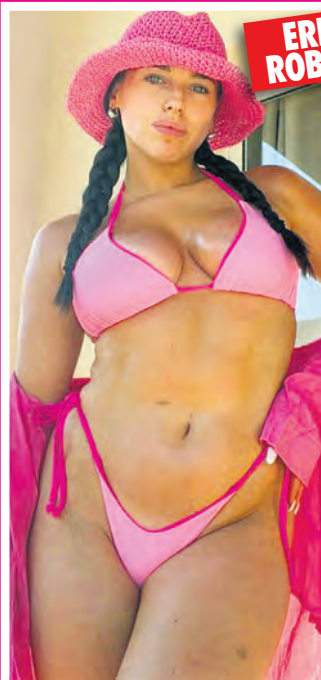

Steven Sim, 52, a former graphic designer based in Arbroath, said he was "blown away" by the chatbot's AI intelligence.

The creation features prominent red, "to represent the passion that drives AI development", and gold "for the brilliance and illumination AI brings to the world".

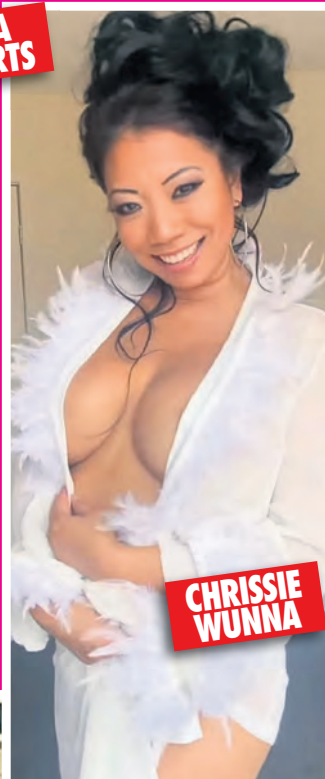

Steve said: "My objective was to have a tartan that was in no way influenced by me."

"The first instruction input was, 'I wonder if you can create a new tartan for me?' and I made sure the colours used had meaning relevant to the invention of AI."

According to its notes of registration, the tartan was created to honour a founding father of AI, John McCarthy.

Anger as top prof asks readers to 'ponder' animal sex CHECK HIS HARD DRIVE!

A TOP university boffin endorsed a pro-bestiality article – labelling it "thought-provoking".

Peter Singer, a bioethics professor at Princeton Uni in the US and co-founder of the Journal of Controversial Ideas, shared the study, asserting that the article challenges societal "taboos" surrounding engaging in sexual activities with animals.

He wrote in a post on Twitter: "Another thought-provoking article is 'Zoophilia is Morally Permissible' by Fira Bensto (pseudonym), which is just out in the current issue of the Journal of Controversial Ideas.

"This piece challenges one of society's strongest taboos and argues for the moral permissibility of some forms of sexual contact between humans and animals.

"This article offers a controversial perspective that calls for a serious and open discussion on animal ethics and sex ethics," he added,

It's sh*t having to queue up for a ride

PUNTERS at Disneyland and Disney World have been defecating while standing in line for busy rides, according to witnesses who reported the sickening sight on social media.

"I am in the queue for Rise of the Resistance at Disney World – someone let their kid take a dump on the floor and they just walked out and left it!" wrote one Reddit user.

Disney guests can wait in line for Rise of the Resistance, the Star Wars-themed attraction, for more than an hour and a half, according to the Queue Times website.

Another Reddit user who claims to have worked near the ride confirmed the claim, writing: "For the sceptics... this actually happened. Fun fact – this was one of three sh*t-related incidents at Rise today."

encouraging people to "read and ponder" the study promoting sex with animals.

The article says that animals can consent to sex with humans and it may not always be a harmful experience for them.

The piece is available online.

"The case for zoophilia being permissible is fairly robust, and commonly raised objections fall flat or are insufficiently backed up," the anonymous author wrote in the piece.

"Critics of zoophilia need more than outrage, they need better arguments," it then concludes. "I suggest that the permissibility of zoophilia should now be taken as the default position, with the burden of proof belonging to its critics."

Prof Singer was slammed on social media for his thoughts.

A user wrote: "There is nothing to ponder. People (almost always men) who rape and sexually molest animals should be in jail and on the Sex Offenders' Register. Sex with someone who can't consent is rape. Next!"

"Professor, Twitter is not a good venue for this. Earth also likely isn't a good venue, but definitely not Twitter," another user wrote on the social media site.

Another wrote: "Check his hard drive".

'Marriage is less permanent than having a tattoo'

SEX Education actress Jemima Kirke has compared tying the knot to getting a tattoo but claiming it's "even less permanent".

The twice-married star (above), who found fame in her iconic role as Jessa Johansson on Lena Dunham's hit TV series Girls, also admitted she would opt for a shotgun wedding should she get hitched for a third time.

Jemima, 38, split from her second hubby, Alex Cameron, 33, earlier this year, and was previously married to lawyer Michael Mosberg from 2009 until 2017.

Speaking at the 2023 Glamour Women of the Year event, she said:

"It's just a big party and it's fun, it's kind of like getting a tattoo but even less permanent!"

When asked about finding love again in the future, Jemima revealed she is "willing to wait" to meet someone in real life as opposed to using dating apps like Tinder.

She said: "If it can happen organically, that would be amazing."

Engineers love w*nk at work

ENGINEERS are a load of wankers – and that's official!

Sexual wellness brand LELO has revealed that almost one in five Brits (17 percent) admitted to masturbating at work in the last 12 months.

And according to the data, around one in three engineers (34%) are practising self-love on the job – making them the top workplace wankers.

Recruiters follow close behind, with 29% saying they indulge in a workplace wank.

While masturbating at work is probably not how your boss wants you to spend your time on the clock, LELO suggested that dedicating time to self-pleasure outside the office is very beneficial.

In a 2023 report, the experts found that "more orgasms would make for a cost-effective way to stimulate the economy".

The poll found 45% of Brits feel more productive when they are having regular orgasms.

SCHOOL MISS SHAGGED TEEN IN CAR PARK

LESSONS IN LOVE: Kelly Schutte (below) is on leave from Penridge South Middle School

By KIT JACKSON

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A TEACHER allegedly groomed a 14-year-old lad and sexually abused him several times over the summer.

Guidance counsellor Kelly Ann Schutte, 35, was charged with institutional sexual assault and other crimes for the inappropriate relationship with the student that began in autumn 2022 and continued for months.

Cops were first alerted to the alleged abuse in July when a family member of Schutte, who worked at Penridge South Middle School in Pennsylvania, reportedly saw them kissing inside her home.

The relative, who witnessed the alleged kiss from outside, reportedly stormed into the house and demanded the teen leave, the student said.

The scared teen ran out and hid behind a parked vehicle nearby and called his parents in a panic to be picked up.

The boy then told his parents that he was in a romantic and sexual relationship with Schutte and his mother called police the following day on July 18.

The pupil told investigators that he had sat next to his counsellor on a school bus on the way back from a class trip last autumn.

After that, Schutte frequently called him into her office, often during class time, and began messaging through Canvas, the school district's messaging system.

Once the school year ended, their conversations moved to Snapchat and their relationship became physical, with the student telling police he and Schutte had sexual contact numerous times in June and July this year.

Schutte had sex with the boy in her own home in Pennsylvania, in his Bucks County home while his parents were away, and in her car in a supermarket car park, according to the complaint.

She was placed on administrative leave in July pending the results of her case.

Donkey dicks trader jailed

A MAN has been jailed for two years after he was convicted of trading in DONKEY DICKS.

Zheng Di was sent to prison by Justice Ambrose Lewis-Allagooa at the Federal High Court in Lagos, Nigeria, after being found guilty of the charge made against him by the Nigerian Customs Service.

Zheng committed the illegal act on August 2 at the SAHCOL Export Warehouse of the Murtala Mohammed International Airport in Lagos.

He'd falsely claimed he was exporting bull cocks to his homeland of China, but customs officers found the parts were from donkeys – a trade which is banned in Nigeria.

TRUCK REPOSSESSED AS OWNER LAY DYING

DEBT collectors repossessed a man's truck as he lay dying after being shot by the police.

Stephen Perkins, 39, was gunned down by cops from Decatur Police Department outside his home in Decatur, Alabama.

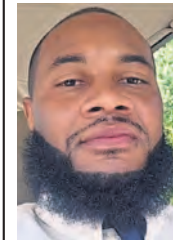

Police said a tow truck driver had tried to repossess Perkins's pickup when he pulled a gun on the other man, causing the driver to call 911.

Perkins was gunned down by responding officers, who fired 18 shots. A driver from Allstar Recovery drove off with the dying man's truck as he took his final breaths nearby.

Cops were seen standing over the body of Perkins (left) after gunning him down, with the tow driver making off with Perkins's white GMC Sierra.

Police claim Perkins had been ordered to "get on the ground" by officers who had identified themselves.

Perkins's family said he'd not fallen behind on payments for the truck, which is why he'd tried to stop it from being taken away.

Marvels pulls in least dosh on its release

THE Marvels, the latest film in the Marvel Cinematic Universe, lived up to expected low expectations for its box office debut.

The action adventure stars Brie Larson, 34, Teyonah Parris, 36, and Iman Vellani, 21, as the title characters who battle a villain named Dar-Benn, played by Zawe Ashton, in a post-Thanos universe.

The movie debuted at No.1 on a lacklustre weekend for US cinemas, pulling in a mere £38m, the lowest weekend premiere ever for a Marvel movie.

Following far behind in second place was the fright flick Five Night's at Freddy's.

In it, actor Josh Hutcherson stars as a security guard working at Freddy Fazbear's Pizza, who discovers the friendly-looking animatronic characters get up to sinister antics at night.

It pulled in just £7m.

HELPS BELLS: Flanagan looks hot in red

By SUZY SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

SEXY Helen Flanagan wowed fans with her latest Instagram photos as she posed for a red-hot undies advert.

The actress, 33, showed off her cracking little bod in matching red lace lingerie, which included a bra and a skimpy thong.

Turning up the heat, Helen paired the outfit with a pair of sheer stockings, while writhing around on the floor as she worked her angles for the camera.

Twitch

Helen, who revealed earlier this year she'd had a boob job, showed off the results of her surgery in the busty bra.

If she'd worn clobber like this while she was in Coronation Street, the soap's ratings wouldn't be on the slide.

One fan said: "Red panties always give me a twitch."

Which is in common with most of us when we see these photos.

Here are some more scorching babes in scarlet undies...

#MY SEX FANTASY

'He said it would be a huge turn-on to see me with another guy...'

...WITH EVA PARCKER, 34C, FROM BRENT, NORTH LONDON

I LOVE having sex in public and I've done it pretty much anywhere and everywhere!

I've got down and dirty on a plane, a train and a bus, and also in a car in a layby, in a field, a cinema, at the library, in a club, a pub, and even in a children's playground!

And, of course, when I've been on holiday I've done it at the beach, in the hotel swimming pool and even on a balcony.

I love the thrill of knowing you could get caught by someone at any moment – I love going at it fast and furious while you can and the orgasm is always so intense!

I did get caught once by a train inspector. I was on the way to London with my then boyfriend for a weekend away.

We'd had some wine, the carriage was empty and we just got carried away!

The inspector mumbled something inaudible at us – we were very embarrassed. But not enough to never do it again.

It felt so naughty and taboo – I'm lucky to have never been arrested really!

At the moment, I'm watching lots of dogging porn. It's so seedy. You've got the element of the outdoors – in woods or car parks – and the element of getting filthy with strangers.

I would love to try it one day. My current fella said it would be a huge turn-on to see me shagging another guy – or guys!

Mushrooms pilot wanted to 'wake up'

THE off-duty pilot who allegedly tried to down a plane has opened up about the incident, claiming he thought he would snap out of a mushroom-trip-induced delusional state if the flight crashed.

"I thought it would stop both engines, the plane would start to head towards a crash, and I would wake up," Joseph Emerson, 44 (above), said in an interview from the county jail in Portland, Oregon, where he's being held on 83 counts of attempted murder.

The life-long pilot said he was experiencing a days-long mental breakdown and paranoia spiral that left him wondering if what he was experiencing was real or simply a dream when he carried out the October 22 act.

Emerson's crack-up started two days before when he took magic mushrooms with friends during a weekend getaway to reminisce on the life of one of their late pals.

Emerson is being held without bail on the state charges.

STI rise 'down to no sex ed'

SCHOOLS' fear of teaching sex education is driving a surge in cases of VD, the Children's Commissioner for England claims.

Dame Rachel De Souza said that issues around sexual health were not always being taught consistently, or well, because of a failure to resolve controversies around sex education lessons and a lack of clear guidance for teachers.

She said: "I talk to teenagers and ask, 'What's on your mind?' They say, 'Nobody has ever taught me... what do I do about preventing pregnancy?'"

"Heads are frightened about teaching these things and they're not teaching them well."

Data published by the UK Health and Security Agency shows that in 2022, the number of new STI diagnoses among young people aged 15 to 24 increased by 26% to 164,337 cases.

MEGAN AND KYRA SEND FANS WILD, SNOGGING AS THE FIRST SAME-SEX COUPLE ON LOVE ISLAND GAMES

Oh Christ...I've pulled the end off!

COUPLED UP: Megan (left) and tasty Kyra

IT is an inescapable fact of life that fellas LOVE to watch two ladies kissing.

And when two top-flight babes lock lips, there's liable to be an injury...

Megan Barton-Hanson and Kyra Green sent Love Island Games fans into meltdown as they formed the show's first same-sex couple – and shared a steamy SNOG!

Candid

English contestant Megan, 29, and American Kyra, 26, are both openly bisexual and delighted viewers as they had a candid chat about their sexuality.

Kyra, who found fame on

By SIMON DEAN

season one of Love Island USA, shocked fellow Islanders when she appeared on the show spin-off as a bombshell and opted to couple up with Megan.

Earlier in the day she pulled Megan aside and confessed: "I wanted to talk to you because you're so beautiful. You looked gorgeous but you never know when girls are into girls or there's mutual feeling."

As Kyra explained that most of her long-term relationships had been with women, Megan revealed: "My first experience with a girl was actually with a couple but then I was like, 'Oh my God I'm actually only invested in the girl!'"

"I'm very openly sexual. I feel it's not fair that men get to just be applauded for being players and living their best lives, but as women you get slut-shamed."

Speaking to the camera later in the day Kyra confessed: "Megan is very beautiful and she has this calm sweetness to her that I didn't expect so I'm very excited for that."

As a bombshell, Kyra was then given her pick of the Islanders to couple up with and opted for Megan – forming the first Love Island Games same-sex couple.

After seeing the babes lock lips on the show, one frenzied fan tweeted: "Oh Christ! I've pulled the end off! Clean off!"

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

● CAN Nigel Farage survive the jungle in I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out of Here!?
Let's take a couple of seconds to think about that. He spent two decades chewing up and spitting out the total non-entitles in the European Union institutions. He has survived testicular cancer. And he's walked away from a light aircraft plane crash. And they're just the more interesting bits. Gobbling down a kangaroo's bollock? Child's play.

Put 'em out of their misery!

THE CAMBACK KID: Former PM Cameron

THERE are 650 Members of Parliament.

That is 650 elected politicians earning £86,584 minimum a year and not a single one of them considered good enough to do a top Government job.

It's the only conclusion you can make after Rishi Sunak creaked open the trapdoor, stared down in the gloomy Tory tomb, and nervously asked: "Is anyone there?"

And up floated the ghost of David Cameron, the man who walked away from No.10 when 52% of the voting public defied his scare tactics and on-high orders and ticked the "Leave" box in 2016.

Cameron, he of the shiny face and a posh "gypsy" caravan, was briefly mentioned for the role as Foreign Secretary in 2018 that was dumped when focus groups revolted.

Sucking

He'd already blotted his copybook as PM by first introducing "austerity" and sucking up to the plotters in Beijing during his first stint in power.

If the referendum didn't quite break him, then he was accused of allegedly sticking his Eton-educated dick into the mouth of a suckling pig.

He was a member of the dreadful Bullingdon Club at Oxford, known for its rowdy, riotous, drunken parties.

And then he found himself in the spotlight after leaving office when it emerged he'd been ringing Rishi, who was then the Chancellor under Boris, to ask for favours of business chums he happened to be working for.

But Rishi doesn't live in our world.

So he's brought back a man we'll all have to now call "Baron" something or other, despite him no longer being elected as an MP and simply shoed-in to the House of Lords.

And us lot out here, the little people, the voters, the people who provide every single public penny that gets spent in this country, don't get so much as a say.

At the risk of sounding like people who read The Guardian, on this they might just have a point.

Let's have a general election now. The quicker this lot are put out of their misery, the better.

● "COMEDIAN" Russell Kane says he's taking a cocktail of pills in order to try to keep his health and body at his current age of 48.
Or so he says. But if his real aim is to look more like the permanently vexed champagne socialist and ex footy player Gary Neville, he's on to a winner.

UFO boss: alternative is scarier!

THE Pentagon's UFO chief has quit after saying several reported sightings of objects flying through the sky over the US are either the work of foreign nations or ALIENS.

Sean Kirkpatrick (above), head of the All-domain Anomaly Resolution Office, announced his plans to leave after heading the department for 18 months – a job he deferred his retirement for in the hope of finding evidence of extraterrestrials.

After investigating more than 800 cases during his brief stint as director, Kirkpatrick warned of the presence of UFOs, and although there has yet to be any hard evidence of aliens, he said the alternative was more frightening. "If we don't prove it's aliens, then what we're finding is evidence of other people doing stuff in our backyard," he said. "And that's not good."

Kirkpatrick previously told congress there was "no credible evidence thus far of extraterrestrial activity" or "off-world technology".

'Drunk' son kills OAP dad, 85, in truck hit 'n' run

A PENSIONER run over by a truck driven by his son several times later died in hospital.

According to police, the truck started to move and ran over Thomas McKeown, 86, dragging him, and reversed and moved forward several times, hitting the OAP every time before then speeding off.

Deputies in Pinellas County, Florida, confirmed that Thomas's son, Mark McKeown, 61, was driving the truck.

He was arrested and charged with leaving the scene of a crash involving death.

Thomas McKeown was taken to a local hospital and later died from his injuries.

Authorities said the driver could have been drunk when the crash happened and that the investigation is ongoing.

OOH BETTY: Dani's snake bit her porn partner

A BUSTY porn babe has revealed the horrifying moment her pet python bit her co-star on the COCK.

OnlyFans beauty Dani Dabello told her Insta followers that she'd invited her friend over to film a sex scene for her online subscribers.

Her co-star, who was fresh out of the shower, then asked if he could hold her snake, named Betty, but was left screaming in pain after the reptile bit him on his dangle.

"I want to introduce you to Betty. She's my centralian carpet python. I've never had an issue with her biting until today," Dani told fans.

"So earlier I had a friend over and we shot a video for my other page. Once we were finished doing that he jumped in the shower, but he did mention he wanted to hold my pet snake afterwards."

Aussie Dai continued: "So once he got out I put Betty around his neck."

Dani said she turned around to leave the room before hearing a 'massive scream'.

Teeth

"I've turned around and seen that Betty is holding onto his dick and he's tried to pull her off it," she added.

"After a few minutes, we got her off and I put her back into her enclosure and there was blood everywhere!"

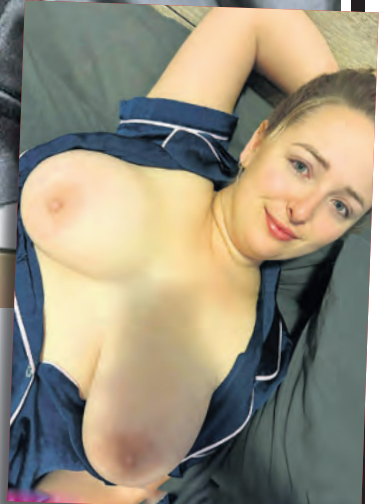

"I did check to make sure there were no little teeth left in it," she said. Her followers were left shocked by the confession, with one person writing: "Ouch, I hope he is alright and I hope Betty is alright too."

"Stuff of nightmares," another person commented.

The centralian carpet python is a non-venomous snake commonly found in Australia.

It can reach lengths of up to three metres and its pattern consists of a brown to reddish colour.

DRUNK LICKED WOMAN'S MINGE IN STAIRWELL

Neighbour was forced to squeeze past kinky act

A DRUNK man has been fined for licking out a woman as a resident tried to squeeze past them on a stairwell in a block of flats.

Keith Ballentine didn't stop sucking his partner's minge, despite the shocked neighbour in the Edinburgh flats being blocked on his way out.

The resident called the police and when officers arrived some time later the pair were still performing sexual acts.

Ballentine, 48, previously admitted committing an offence of public indecency. The woman involved in the incident, Kimberley Finnigan, pleaded guilty to the charge at a previous hearing.

Ballentine appeared at the city's sheriff court for sentencing.

Sheriff Matthew Auchincloss told Ballentine:

"This must have been quite disturbing for those who witnessed what was going on."

The sheriff fined him £470.

At an earlier hearing, fiscal deputy Morgan Beattie said it was around noon when the resident left his flat in Lochrin Terrace in the capital's Tollcross area.

Ms Beattie said the man spotted Ballentine and Finnigan kissing at the bottom of the stairwell.

She said: "As he reached the last flight of stairs, he looked down and saw Ms Finnigan reclining on the lower steps with her underwear lowered to her ankles."

The prosecutor said

Ballentine was "performing oral sex on Miss Finnigan" and the resident was left "shocked and disgusted".

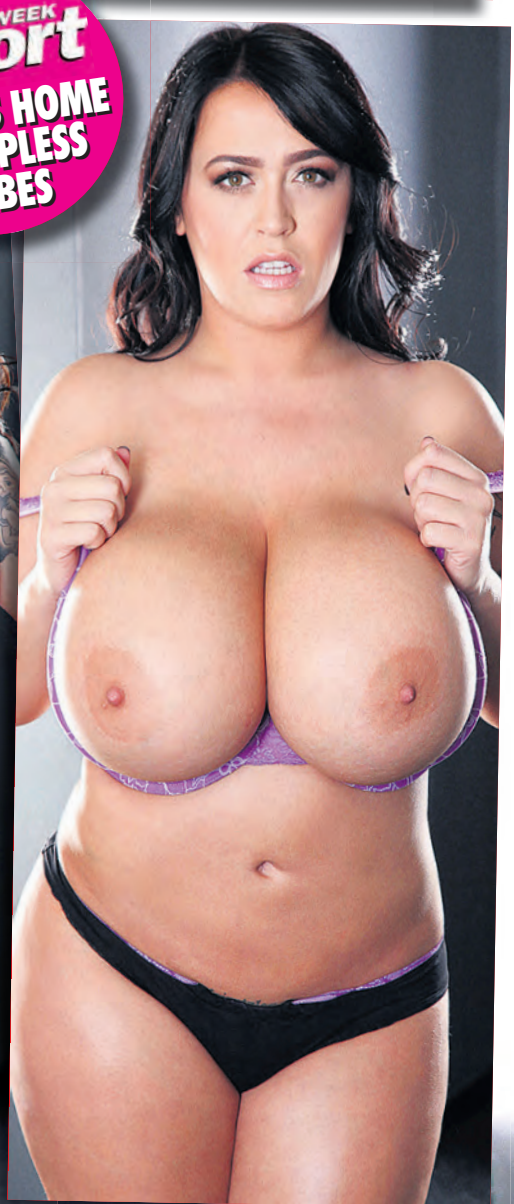

Solicitor Gagan Kaur told the hearing her client "completely regrets his behaviour and was 'drunk at the time', adding: 'He knows it was a disgusting thing to do.'"

*PageDear Sam,

I'm a 32-year-old woman with a bit of a problem. I have taken to going out late at night and flashing my knickers to lorry drivers.

I get so turned on by yanking up my skirt and revealing my panties as they go by. Some flash their lights and honk their horns but others stop to have some fun.

In the past three months I have been with about 20 lorry drivers in their cabs. I just can't stop doing it and some of the lorry drivers now know me quite well.

They'll actually do a detour for a handjob, blowjob or even full sex with me over my car bonnet or in their lorry cab. It's always safe sex with a condom but I'm so addicted to the thrill I'm doing things I'd never imagined.

For instance, last night I went out in just stockings, suspenders, and a coat and was serviced by three truckers at the same time.

The first one had me over the bonnet with his cock right up my arse, while another was sat on the bonnet with his cock in my mouth and the third had got down on his knees to lap and finger my pussy.

I had the most amazing climaxes. They took turns exploding in my arse, pussy and mouth. When I got home I was dripping in cum.

My boyfriend works away quite a bit, so these are the times I go out. But if he found out he'd be mortified.

I'm also worried the police will catch me one day – and if they do my world will fall apart. What should I do?

*LT, KentSam says...

WHY not try a local dogging hot-spot. Better still, try and introduce your fella – slowly – to the scene.

Dear Sam,

MY missus loves me to fk her in the face – but my nads often give her black eyes as I'm pumping hard and fast in her mouth.

Every time she wants a mouthful these days I think the fking social services are going to be round about wife-battering.

I know most fellas like the idea of putting one in the mouth, but to be honest I'd rather have her up the usual route.

What can I do?

*NP, LiverpoolSam says...

EVER heard of those knitted nut protectors or welding goggles?

My girlfriend wants me to shag her pal*Dear Sam,

MY girlfriend has told me she wants me to shag her best mate on this girl's birthday while she watches. Her mate is well fit, with long blonde hair, massive jugs and a fine figure.

The idea does turn me on and my bird has been dirty in bed recently as she says the idea of watching me shag her mate gets her going big time.

Just last night I shagged her up the arse for the first time ever. She moaned with pleasure as I slowly slid my eight-incher up her tight little bumhole.

It was brilliant as I watched my cock sliding in and out. I pulled just as I was about to come and she sucked me off.

But I'm uneasy about shagging her mate and I think it could ruin our relationship.

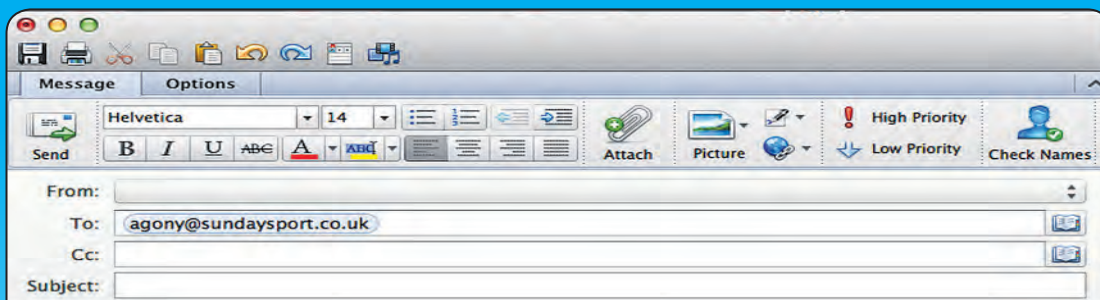

What do you think?

*HR, PeterboroughSam says...

YOU are right to feel uneasy about this. If you go through with it, you WILL damage your relationship – but you will probably have a lot of fun!

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Bi babes tease punters, then tease my todger!

Dear Sam,

I REALLY must be the luckiest bloke in the world as I'm shagging not one but TWO gorgeous bisexual pals – at the same time

They're both 21, at university and they like nothing more than a hot threeway session with me.

I'm 26 and I met the girls when they came into the pub I manage looking for work as barmaids.

There was only one vacancy but I took them both on as I thought a couple of great looking girls would pull in the punters.

Wink

Ours is a fun pub so I asked them to dress as college girls when they were on duty and they agreed with a wink and a giggle as they felt up each other's bums.

They are stunnas and the customers loved them when they saw them in their tiny mini-skirts, white open-neck shirts and uplift bras.

They also loved the fact that the girls were constantly flirting with one another and making saucy comments about what they'd be doing to each other when they got home.

I took them both out for a meal a few weeks after they started work, and during the meal the talk was so flirty and dirty I had to sit with a hard-on throughout it.

They share a house with two other lezzer girls and after we'd finished they invited me back there.

I still didn't think they had any inclination towards shagging men but to my surprise no sooner had we got indoors than they were all over me, feeling my rock hard knob through my trousers.

As they slipped their fingers into my flies I damn nearly shot my load there and then right there in the hallway.

Then we all scurried up to their bedroom, stripped off and dived on one of the beds.

First, one of them went down on me while her mate squatted over my face so that I could give her fanny a good licking out.

Then they swapped over and I was in my element as these two stunnas took it in turns to suck me off as they probed each other's slippery slits with their agile fingers.

But the best was still to come because one of them asked me if I had ever had anal sex.

When I said I hadn't, she giggled and got on all fours while her pal lubed her up and guided my erect todger into her tighter hole.

Thrust

I began to thrust and she was squealing with delight.

Her girlfriend was happy too as she lay beside us fiddling with her hard little clit.

The session lasted four hours and we all climaxed several times.

Am I sorted, or what?

CD, south London

Sam says...

THIS is the stuff of dreams – be sure to keep us posted.

Lesbos in threeway with randy male boss

Dear Sam,

ALTHOUGH I am a lesbian, and I have had a lovely girlfriend for four years, I recently cheated on her with my male boss.

We were the only ones in the office one night, he came on to me and I fancied it.

I got straight down to the bulge in his trousers.

His cock was huge and tasted better than other cocks I'd sucked before. He was the first man I'd had sex with in six years.

He pleased me like never before and I did not hesitate in gobbling down his love-juice.

My boss knows my situation and suggested a threesome with my girlfriend – and to my surprise she jumped at the chance.

He came round with some champagne and we all headed upstairs for a shower. I let him screw me from behind in the shower while my girlfriend soaped my tits.

Then he banged her doggy-style on the bed as I sucked his balls from below.

He then said he wanted to tie us both to the bed and fk us up the arse. We agreed and he tied us with my stockings and then pounded our arses.

My girlfriend says that was a one-off but I want to do it again. How do I persuade her?

DC, Cheshire

Sam says...

Keep plugging away. Sound like she won't take much persuading.

Dear Sam,

THE youngest brother of my hubby has turned out to be a right stud.

When we married he was a teenager but now he's in his mid-20s and he's absolutely gorgeous.

Last week I put on my sexiest undies and let my brother-in-law glimpse up my skirt when he came round to do some odd jobs on the house.

Todger

The next thing is, I catch him banging one off in the toilet and I tell him: "You don't have to do that."

I got hold of his massive todger and guided it straight into my soaking wet hole and we were off.

Five sweaty minutes later we were both wearing large smiles.

Before we left I sucked him off and swallowed his spunk.

I'm thinking of trying the middle brother next. What do you reckon?

GT, North Yorks

Sam says...

YOU'RE playing with fire and you're going to get burned.

DO YOU HAVE A SEX PROBLEM?

CURVY Cara Brett says she loves performing sex acts in public – and once gave a fella a blowjob in a shop CHANGING ROOM!

The beauty said she was so turned on she couldn't resist a cloakroom gobble when she was out with her man.

And the sight of a rod-on is enough to get the London-born 32FF stunna feeling rampant.

Gorgeous Cara said: "I'm a feisty girl and I love todgers.

"I was once in a changing room in a shop, trying on some clothes, and my ex was waiting outside.

"He jumped in and I gave him a quick nosh. He was so turned on that he shot his load in my mouth within a minute!"

FORGET stockings... tasty Tamrin Leandra reckons TIGHTS are even sexier!

The 32D Northampton babe said she likes wearing hose with no panties on underneath.

Tamrin said: "It's just a bit more subtle to 'accidentally' flash your privates at a fella when you are wearing tights."

"It's not quite so in-your-face, so it takes him a second or two to realise what he's actually seeing."

"And a big fantasy of mine is to have a fella tear a hole in my tights before a really hard session."

"Is that very naughty of me?"

HAPPY MAN: Mark McCall

Sarries boss on high after taking down the Falcons

RUGBY UNION

MARK McCall was delighted at the way his Saracens side were able to adapt in adversity after a thumping 50-12 win away to Newcastle Falcons at Kingston Park.

The Premiership champions travelled to the north east without a number of their England stars, who were rested after coming straight back in last week.

They then lost lineup caller and second row Callum Hunter-Hill in the warm-up, with back-rower Ollie Stonham coming into the starting line-up out of position.

Despite that, Sarries were able to overcome a slow start to wrap up the bonus point by half-time and make it three wins on the spin, to the delight of McCall.

He said: "As a squad, to come up to Newcastle with some of the disruption we had in the week - we changed the team a lot from last week (and) lost Callum in the warm-up, I wasn't sure how we were going to win a lineup!"

"Ollie Stonham came in - a young lad from our academy - and did a fantastic job. It was a big strength, our lineup, incredibly, so it's the sort of gritty, intense performance that we wanted and I'm really pleased with how we did."

"We had to graft really hard - the last three weeks, there's been a really good feeling in the group."

"I thought we problem-solved well on the field, we rolled our sleeves up and were relentless all throughout the game. It's always the sign of a good squad, when people aren't too precious and want to help the team as much as they can."

Falcons opened the scoring through Sebastian de Chaves but Saracens responded with four tries before half-time, Theo Dan crossing twice along with scores from Elliot Daly and Alex Lewington.

Bryan Byrne crossed for Falcons before the hour but Saracens then ran away with it, Tom Willis, Juan Martin Gonzalez and Manu Vunipola rounding off a big win.

Falcons head coach Alex Codling said: "We started brightly, scored the first try but after that there were too many errors, we were too ill-disciplined."

THE CRICKET WORLD CUP JUS

KEY: I'LL UNLOCK ENGLAND

Three Lions boss will give coaches time to turn 50-over form around

DIRECTOR of cricket Rob Key is ready to take his share of the blame for England's World Cup downfall, insisting head coach Matthew Mott will be given "first opportunity" to put things right.

Having arrived in India among the favourites, the 2019 champions are set to depart on Sunday among the also-rans, having scrambled to a seventh-placed finish.

With six defeats from nine games, this goes down as the country's worst ever performance at the event, leaving Mott under pressure after 18 months in the job.

Some read Key's decision to jet out to Kolkata for the end of the tournament as a bad sign for the Australian, but he and captain Jos

By PAUL THOMAS

Buttler instead received the backing of their boss.

Rather than line either up as a blood sacrifice, Key focused on his own prioritisation of England's Test fortunes, which have sparked to life under Brendon McCullum.

"I look at what I've not done rather than blaming everyone else. I hold myself accountable for a lot," he said.

"Since I've started this job, it's very hard for me to be critical of Jos Buttler and Matthew Mott when I'm the one who, every single time a decision has been made around whether or not we focus on 50-over cricket, Test cricket or T20, I've always chosen Test cricket."

"When there was a choice in Pakistan over who got the best players, I've always said, 'sorry, Test cricket gets that focus at the moment'. The same thing in South Africa. I've always chosen Test cricket. It's not easy for coaches and captains when you haven't got the ability to plan and have your best team."

"That's not their fault. So I feel like it's harsh if I turn around and blame the captain and coach. Really, I hold myself at the top of that list for what's gone wrong on this trip."

JONNY BAIRSTOW: One of the stars of 2019 was simply not at the races this time around. Without his old partner Jason Roy to bounce off Bairstow struggled to make an impact and found ways to get out. 3/10

DAVID MALAN: Topped England's run charts with 404, scored 140 against Bangladesh and kept strike rate better than a run a ball. Already ousted from the West Indies tour and may have played his last game. 7

JOE ROOT: Made three fifties -

two at the start and one at the end - but fell away dramatically through the middle of the tournament when his composure was badly needed but sadly absent. 4

BEN STOKES: Came out of one-day retirement in the hope of adding one more trophy to his collection but goes home disappointed. Missed the first three games with a hip injury and, although he averaged 50 and hit a brilliantly-paced century against the Netherlands, this was not what he came to do. 6

JOS BUTTLER: A horrible time for the captain Poor decisions over team selection and at the toss will cling to him and his batting brilliance deserted him, with 138 runs across nine tortured innings. 2

HARRY BROOK: He showed flashes of his skill in a format he has barely played. A future mainstay of the side, leaving him out for three important games was flawed logic. 4

T KEEPS ROLLING ALONG

OFF TARGET: Buttler has struggled at the World Cup

New faces in picture for West Indies

ENGLAND have already named new-look squads for next month's white-ball tour of the West Indies.

The limited-overs trip to the Caribbean, coming straight off the back of a six-week trawl of India, had been highlighted as a time to look at fresh faces but the ODI party contains only six survivors from the title defence.

Jos Buttler remains in charge and is joined by Gus Atkinson, Harry Brook, Brydon Carse, Sam Curran and Liam Livingstone.

Jonny Bairstow, Joe Root and Mark Wood have been rested ahead of January's Tests in India and Ben Stokes is heading straight for an operation on his long-term knee injury.

But the omissions of Dawid Malan, Moeen Ali and Chris Woakes from the 50-over squad may prove to be more final.

Moeen and Woakes, together with Adil Rashid, are retained for the T20 leg, suggesting they still have a chance of next summer's World Cup, but Malan has been cut from both formats.

Despite being England's top run-scorer over the last few weeks, finishing 100 clear of his nearest challenger, at 36 he seems to have run out of road.

Three uncapped players make the cut in the ODI side with Test vice-captain Ollie Pope joining seamers John Turner and Josh Tongue. The pace pair also feature in the 20-over squad.

Phil Salt, Will Jacks and Rehan Ahmed will also make the full trip, indicating they are all seen as important parts of England's white-ball rebuild.

While Ahmed was handed a two-year central contract last month, it is notable that neither Jacks nor Salt were among the 29 names who did receive deals.

Malan, who appears to have played his final international, was signed up for a year.

England's director of men's cricket Rob Key said: "If you told me, 100 per cent, that Dawid Malan is not going to play in the T20 World Cup, I'd say 'absolutely not'. He's got every opportunity to get there: he's just got to show us he can get back to the player he was."

"We reckon his form in T20 over the last year hasn't been there. He's going to have to take the opportunity, whether it's in franchise cricket or whatever, to go out and improve."

"Root, regardless of anything else, needs a break. I think that him getting ready for that Test tour in India, along with Jonny Bairstow and Mark Wood (is important)."

As for Jacks, who could soon find himself involved in all three forms of the game for England despite missing out on an ECB contract just weeks ago, Key suggested the future was bright.

"It might be a case that people might get contracts throughout the year, Will was always someone in our plans," he said.

"He's going to get the opportunity now with 50 over cricket and T20 cricket to stake a claim. Hopefully this is the start of something for someone like Will Jacks."

ODI squad: J Buttler (c), R Ahmed, G Atkinson, H Brook, S Curran, B Duckett, T Hartley, W Jacks, L Livingstone, O Pope, P Salt, J Tongue, J Turner

T20I squad: J Buttler (c), R Ahmed, M Ali, G Atkinson, H Brook, S Curran, B Duckett, W Jacks, L Livingstone, T Mills, A Rashid, P Salt, J Tongue, R Topley, J Turner, C Woakes

MOEEN ALI: Did not take a wicket until England were officially out of the tournament but finished with five on helpful pitches in the last two games. Only one innings of any substance and is probably finished in ODI after this. 4

LIAM LIVINGSTONE: Woefully off form with the bat, averaging just 10 in six knocks, as concerns arose over his suitability for the 50-over game. Contributed better with the ball, but his spin was not enough to keep him in the XI. 2

DAVID WILLEY: Announced his retirement midway through the tournament after missing out on a central contract but channelled his anger to produce some excellent performances. Will feel a haul of 11 wickets in six games at 23.55 has proved a point. 7

SAM CURRAN: Player of the tournament in last year's T20

World Cup, the pendulum swung dramatically for the all-rounder here. Bowled his way out of the team for good after three matches and has not really found a clear role in the batting order. Needs to prove he can cope with the demands of the 50-over game. 2

CHRIS WOAKES: Mr Dependable on home soil but a notoriously fragile traveller. Woakes set the tone for England's struggles with some dreadful new-ball bowling at the start of the tournament. Finished well and broke Sir Ian Botham's record of 30 World Cup wickets, but his long stint as attack leader should be at an end. 5

MARK WOOD: England's speed demon kept charging in and delivering at pace but he was unable to take regular wickets or keep a lid on the boundaries. Six wickets at 58.17 and an economy of 6.46 shone a light on his struggles. 3

GUS ATKINSON: Chosen as the one up-and-coming young bowler in the squad and gave a decent account of himself across three appearances. Has the speed to succeed but needs to learn a few more tricks. 5

ADIL RASHID: Perhaps not quite the same bowler he was at his peak, but still the best England could offer here. Topped the wicket column with 15, maintained a good economy and thrived on the slower pitches. England will miss him when he's gone. 7

REECE TOPLEY: Bafflingly overlooked for the first match but looked the side's best seamer by a distance when he got the chance. His injury curse continued as he flew home with a broken finger but he is inked in to England's best white-ball team. 7

UP FOR IT:
Ben Davies

We'll silence the doubters says Davies

By ANDY MILLOM

BEN Davies insists Wales are determined to prove the doubters wrong by making Euro 2024 and reaching a fourth major tournament in five attempts.

Wales are preparing for decisive Euro 2024 ties against Armenia and Turkey knowing qualification for next summer's finals is in their own hands.

Last month's stunning 2-1 upset win over World Cup semi-finalists Croatia has set Rob Page's side up for what could be another momentous week in Welsh football.

Tottenham defender Davies, stand-in skipper for the injured Aaron Ramsey on the night and again this week, gave a rousing 'huddle' speech after the Croatia game that was caught on camera.

Evoking the words of Dafydd Iwan's Yma O Hyd – the 1980s folk protest song which has been adopted by the Football Association of Wales as an anthem and translates as 'Still Here' – Davies declared that the Dragons never give in.

Doubters

"It was just a case of showing the reason why we're here," Davies said of a speech which came during a campaign in which Wales have had to adapt to life without the match-winning exploits of the retired Gareth Bale.

"It was backs against the walls stuff, it was showing that people doubted us again but we're still standing."

"We're standing up against the challenges and here we are with two games to go still in the fight."

"We never stopped believing in this group. The mindset we've got is we can get a result against anyone. We've shown that."

If they fail to qualify automatically – dropped points will leave them

SURVIVOR: Danny Ward

relying on other results for a top-two place – Wales are guaranteed a play-off place through their elite status in the last edition of the Nations League.

But overcoming Armenia and already-qualified Turkey might be an easier proposition than beating the likes of Norway, Poland and Ukraine in March.

Automatic qualification, however, looked improbable after June's 4-2 defeat to Armenia in Cardiff, and the subsequent 2-0 away loss in Turkey three days later.

Davies said: "It was obviously disappointing to lose to Armenia at home in the summer."

"In these groups your home record usually has to be very good, but we've been here before."

"We've had our backs against the wall and we've given ourselves a chance. It's exactly the same now."

"It's quite clear the second game doesn't matter if the first one doesn't go our way."

"This week it's full focus on Armenia. We had a tough result against them at home, it was a real wake-up call."

"They're a good side and showed that against us, and it's important we go there knowing we've got a big job to do."

Davies, Ramsey and goalkeepers Danny Ward and Wayne Hennessey are the four survivors remaining from the squad that reached the semi-finals of Euro 2016.

ALL THE TOP TIPS FOR TODAY'S RACING

COPPER CAN STRIKE GOLD

LUCINDA Russell looks set to have a good day at Ayr where Choose A Copper can confirm the impression he made on his rules debut.

Second in his final point-to-point, he changed hands for £95,000 and, on the evidence of his Hexham win first time out, he looks to have a chance of living up to that price tag at least.

Starting off over two miles, Choose A Copper was sent off at prohibitive odds and had little trouble in justifying them, making all the running and quickening up when a solitary challenger emerged.

There is much more strength in depth to the Ayr Novices' Hurdle, and he must shoulder a penalty, but he looks up to it.

Penalised

Stablemate Esprit Du Potier also looks the one to beat in the Virgin Bet Novices' Hurdle.

A very smart performer in bumpers last season, he won two before finishing a respectable sixth in a Grade Two event at Aintree.

It was disappointing he could not win on his first outing over timber, but often trainers are not too disconcerted by that, as it allows them to run in another similar race without being penalised and with valuable experience to count on.

The four-year-old was beaten a length and a half by Slugger, no mug in his own right, but his jumping was not quite as slick as the winner.

With no doubt plenty of schooling done in the interim, Esprit Du Potier can be expected to be a good deal sharper now.

Step Above is another for the Russell team to get excited about in the Virgin Bet Handicap Chase.

The lightly-raced six-year-old is racing off bottom weight against far more exposed rivals, having finished third on his chasing debut at Hexham.

While the winners have been flowing for the yard, a few have needed their first run quite badly and this just could be one of them.

Phil Kirby's Zwicky can bring up a hat-trick in the Virgin Bet Handicap Hurdle.

Kirby seems very adept at getting horses to rattle off winning sequences, Bushypark and Lone Star (who runs on this card) are just two which spring to mind, and Zwicky won with a bit up his sleeve at Carlisle when defying a 3lb rise.

Up another 4lb on this occasion, his improvement may not have halted just yet.

Ballsbridge is an interesting runner for Jennie

TRAINER:
Russell

Candlish in Newcastle's Use Safer Gambling Tools At BetUK Novice Stakes.

He is the first foal out of the dual Group One-winning mare Happily, by Lord Kanaloa, a champion sprinter from Japan who slammed Sole Power by five lengths in the Hong Kong Sprint of 2013.

Not surprisingly, a horse with this pedigree started out at Ballydoyle, yet after just two outings, a fourth at Navan and a second at Naas, he was sent to the sales.

Incredibly, he made only 20,000 guineas at the horses in training sale and Candlish gets the chance to succeed where Aidan O'Brien failed and make him a winner.

Now Tim Easterby has got Snash's head back in front, he might be able to rattle off a sequence. Having begun his campaign rated 87, his mark had dropped all the way to 68 before winning at Gosforth Park recently.

Up 2lb for the first division of the Stay In Control At BetUK Handicap, he may remain well treated.

Kevin Philippart de Foy's Shadwell-owned Mukaafah made a pleasing debut to make him of interest in the Unibet Novice at Kempton.

Sent off favourite, he stayed on to be fourth of nine at Yarmouth last month and is entitled to improve.

No trainer ended the turf season in better form than Ralph Beckett and his Frightening brings a similar profile into the Unibet/British Stallion Studs EBF Fillies' Novice Stakes.

She was third of seven on heavy ground at Nottingham and is entitled to be a good bit wiser for that.

NEWCASTLE FACE FIRST BLIP SINCE MONEYBAGS SAUDIS BOUGHT IN

HIT AND MISS:
Anthony Gordon

THE international break could hardly have been better timed for Newcastle with the rigours of competing on multiple fronts having taken a devastating toll on their playing resources.

On Saturday, the Magpies arrived at Bournemouth without 11 senior players as a result of injury and suspension.

Here, Midweek Sport takes a look at the issues facing a club which has enjoyed a swift rise under its new owners amid stiff opposition on and off the pitch.

HOW BAD ARE NEWCASTLE'S SELECTION PROBLEMS?

Very. Head coach Eddie Howe was unable to call upon Dan Burn, Sven Botman, Matt Targett, Javier Manquillo, Elliot Anderson, Harvey Barnes, Jacob Murphy, Alexander Isak and Callum Wilson through injury, as well as suspended duo Sandro Tonali and Bruno Guimaraes, at the

By PAUL THOMAS

Victory Stadium. The Magpies then saw Miguel Almiron added to the list when he limped off after just 31 minutes. Burn, Barnes and Anderson are facing months on the sidelines, while £55million summer signing Tonali will not be able to play again until August next year after admitting breaches of betting regulations.

HOW MUCH TOLL HAVE INJURIES TAKEN ON THE PITCH?

Until last week, very little, but chickens have started to come home to roost. Howe (below), who favours a high-pressing game, gambled on leaving Almiron and the in-form Anthony Gordon out of his starting line-up for Tuesday night's Champions League trip to Borussia Dortmund in the hope they would be able to come off the bench and affect the game late on. In the event, he was forced to introduce them at half-time with Dortmund already leading, and his side was unable to stave off a 2-0 defeat. So depleted were Newcastle's resources on the south coast four days later that 17-year-old midfielder Lewis Miley was handed a first Premier League start, while 18-year-old striker Ben Parkinson was used as a substitute and Alex Murphy, 19, and Amadou Diallo, 20, were also named on the bench. However, tired legs and minds contributed to a second successive 2-0 loss.

WHAT LIES AHEAD?

If the opening three months of the season have been gruelling, the final two months of 2023 promise to be no less taxing. The Magpies head for Paris St Germain on November 28 and entertain AC Milan on December 13 knowing they may have to win both games to keep alive their first Champions League campaign for 20 years, and having accounted for both Manchester clubs in the Carabao Cup, now travel to Chelsea in the quarter-finals next month.

In addition, they face league clashes with improving Chelsea, Manchester United and Tottenham before they head for Liverpool on New Year's Day as they attempt to fight their way to another top-four finish.

WILL THEY BUY IN JANUARY?

They were always likely to bolster their squad during the winter transfer window, but Tonali's unexpected absence has made that imperative. However, they also remain short in central defence and attacking roles and all three areas are likely to be focuses.

WHAT ARE THEIR OPTIONS?

The club was close to its Financial Fair Play limit at the end of its summer spending spree and sporting director Dan Ashworth has indicated a "creative" approach may be needed, and that could mean loan deals with options to buy. In addition, Premier League shareholders will later this month vote on a proposal to ban loan deals between associated clubs – those whose owners hold stakes in other clubs – on an interim basis.

Newcastle are 80 per cent-owned by Saudi Arabia's Public Investment Fund, which also has controlling interests in Saudi Pro League clubs Al-Ittihad, Al-Ahli, Al-Nassr and Al-Hilal. Agreement would prevent the Magpies from pursuing a long-held interest in Al-Hilal's former Wolves midfielder Ruben Neves, with whom they have been linked repeatedly in recent weeks.

IS THERE A NEED FOR CALM?

There is. The club sat just one place off the foot of the table when Howe replaced Steve Bruce at the helm in November 2021. They finished fourth last season to secure a place at European football's top table for the first time in two decades and also reached the Carabao Cup final. They currently lie fourth in Champions League Group F, but have a mathematical chance of making the knockout stage, and are seventh in the Premier League table with another domestic cup run well under way.

OUR HOTSHOT FOOTBALL NEWS

It's tough at the top and at the bottom!

HOW IS YOUR TEAM GETTING ON HEADING INTO LAST 2023 BREAK

FLYING START: Unai Emery has made his Aston Villa candidates for the top four TITLE favourites Man City head into the international break in pole position in the Premier League, but only three points separate the top five.

At the other end of the table, the three promoted clubs occupy the relegation places and face a tough fight for survival.

Here, Midweek Sport compiles an end of term report card with a third of the season complete.

GOOD PROGRESS

Aston Villa sit top of the class in terms of progress made since the same stage last season.

If Unai Emery's side maintain their impressive home form a top-four finish might not be beyond them.

Tottenham boss Ange Postecoglou made the best start to a season by a new manager in Premier League history after 10 games as his side sat five points clear at the top.

Despite back-to-back defeats since then, it has been an eye-catching start under the Australian. Liverpool were 13 points adrift of City in ninth place at the same stage last season, but Jürgen Klopp has got the Reds firing again.

By PAUL THOMAS

Currently second, one point off top spot, they are genuine title challengers once more.

Nottingham Forest were rock-bottom at the same stage last season, but have not looked like relegation candidates so far this term, while West Ham are also looking up the table after last season's Europa Conference League triumph.

MORE TO COME

Pep Guardiola's City have put back-to-back league defeats in October behind them and despite not being as consistently dominant this season, they remain favourites for an unprecedented fourth straight Premier League title.

Bournemouth climbed out of the relegation zone with a fully deserved 2-0 win over Newcastle at the weekend and will be looking to kick on after their second win of the season under Andoni Iraola. Fulham sat seventh after 12 games last season and went on to secure a top-10 finish, but have taken only one point from their last four matches.

Brentford appear to have turned the corner after a slow start, with a recent three-game winning run lifting them comfortably into mid-table, while Crystal Palace have yet to register back-to-back wins but are still closer to the top six than the bottom three in terms of points.

LOOKS PROMISING

Arsenal, two points clear at the top after 12 games last season, have bounced back from their first league defeat this season at Newcastle and trail City by a single point. Mikel Arteta's side are well placed for another title challenge.

Wolves turned in their best display of the season at the weekend by beating Tottenham.

They were second bottom at this stage last season, but their fourth win of this campaign lifted them nine points above relegation trouble.

Brighton have continued to shine under Roberto De Zerbi (below) as they battle on two fronts, while Sean Dyche's Everton have made big strides since their poor start to climb eight points clear of the bottom three.

WORK TO DO

Man United's struggles are on-going as Erik ten Hag strives to turn his side into a cohesive unit and close the gap between themselves and title challengers.

Newcastle's progress has been stalled by a lengthy injury list and the extra burden of Champions League football and Eddie Howe faces a tough task to keep his side in touch with the top four.

Chelsea are arguably this season's biggest underachievers, winning only four of Mauricio Pochettino's first 12 league games in charge, but at last in their two latest matches – against Tottenham and Manchester City – there have been signs of their potential.

All of last season's promoted sides have found the chasm between Premier League and the Championship difficult to bridge.

Burnley, Sheffield United and Luton have each won just one of their first 12 games and face a daunting task to preserve top-flight status.

S REALLY HITS THE TARGET

SCOTLAND CALL-UP: Shankland can make his mark in internationals

TAKE YOUR BIG CHANCE LAWRIE

JOHN Carver has challenged Hearts ace Lawrence Shankland to make the most of his late call-up to the Scotland squad.

The 28-year-old Jambos captain had been drafted in by Steve Clarke after Che Adams became the latest high-profile absentee for this week's Euro 2024 double-header.

Shankland won the last of his five caps in the home win over Spain in March and was left out of the last two squads.

However, after taking his tally for the season to 10 goals with five strikes in his last five matches the former Dundee United forward has been rewarded with a recall. Carver believes Shankland should look towards Watford centre-back Ryan Porteous – now a regular starter – for inspiration as he comes in from the periphery.

He said: "It's a fantastic opportunity for him. In the past, we've had players who have stepped in at the last moment and taken their opportunity. I can use Ryan Porteous as one."

"We went to Ukraine having to get a point in the Nations League. Ryan stepped in (for his debut) and was outstanding, and he's never looked back since. There's an opportunity for Lawrence.

"He's in good form, scoring goals for Hearts, which is important. He'll want to be on that plane in the 23-man squad. It's a competitive squad. We know what he can do, but this is an extra opportunity for him over the next seven days because he didn't expect to be here."

Lewis Ferguson has joined the squad on the back of a strong start to the campaign in Serie A, equalling Denis Law as the highest-scoring Scot in the Italian top flight, and Carver feels the 24-year-old has a chance of asserting himself as a regular starter.

Opportunity

"It's great," he said of Ferguson's form. "We have some young players pushing their way through and, in particular, Lewis had an extremely good game in Lille."

"He's one who is playing in a physical league and he's dealing with it really well. He could be one of the players who forces his way forward and gives Steve an even more difficult decision to make."

Scotland have generally had a fairly settled squad during Clarke's reign, but Carver explained that no player should view themselves as either guaranteed to be in the squad or out of the picture for the Euros as there is still time for circumstances to change.

In the current squad, for instance, the absence of Adams means Scotland are effectively without five regular starters, with goalkeeper Angus Gunn and defenders Andrew Robertson, Kieran Tierney and Aaron Hickey also out injured.

"I'm sure Steve will have some sleepless nights from now until picking the squad but that's what he wants, that's why we're in the game, we want to make difficult decisions," said Carver.

"We want players to force the issue and make it even harder for us. There's going to be disappointment at the end of it, but there is a long way to go from now until the championships."

"Players will get injured, players will come into form, but the decision will be made in the best interest of the team."

Scotland sealed their place at the Euros last month but after losing their last three matches – friendlies against England and France either side of a qualifier away to Spain – Carver is adamant they will not be short of motivation.

"The desire's there because we've lost three games in a row against top-quality opposition," he said. "It was three of the top 10 sides in Europe so it's been a great learning curve, but we want to get back to winning ways."

"We have to now press the reset button and go again. It's great being in the position we're in but the Euros is in the future, we have to attack the situation now and that is by getting six points in the next two games and making sure that just in case Spain slip up in their last two games, we are ready to take advantage."

HOOPS HAVE TO KYOGO FOR IT!

MATT O'Riley believes Celtic need to use Kyogo Furuhashi even more after the Japan striker scored his ninth goal of the season in the 6-0 thrashing of Aberdeen on Sunday.

O'Riley said of "nice man" Furuhashi, who had to go off with a head knock in the second half: "Me and him have a really good relationship on the pitch and I think probably 70% of the assists I have for Celtic have been for him, and that shows how good he is to play with, and how easy is to play with him."

"His movement's top class. I actually think we need to use his runs a little bit more because his movement's so good."

"He deserves the ball to be given to him because he works hard to create the space for himself. We need to keep utilising him because he's our best goalscorer and that would be helpful going forwards."

Saudis eye £80m Spurs striker

SAUDI clubs look set to splash the cash in January – with Richarlison top of the shopping list.

Richarlison if he got to spend the £80m one of the big Saudi sides would pay for him.

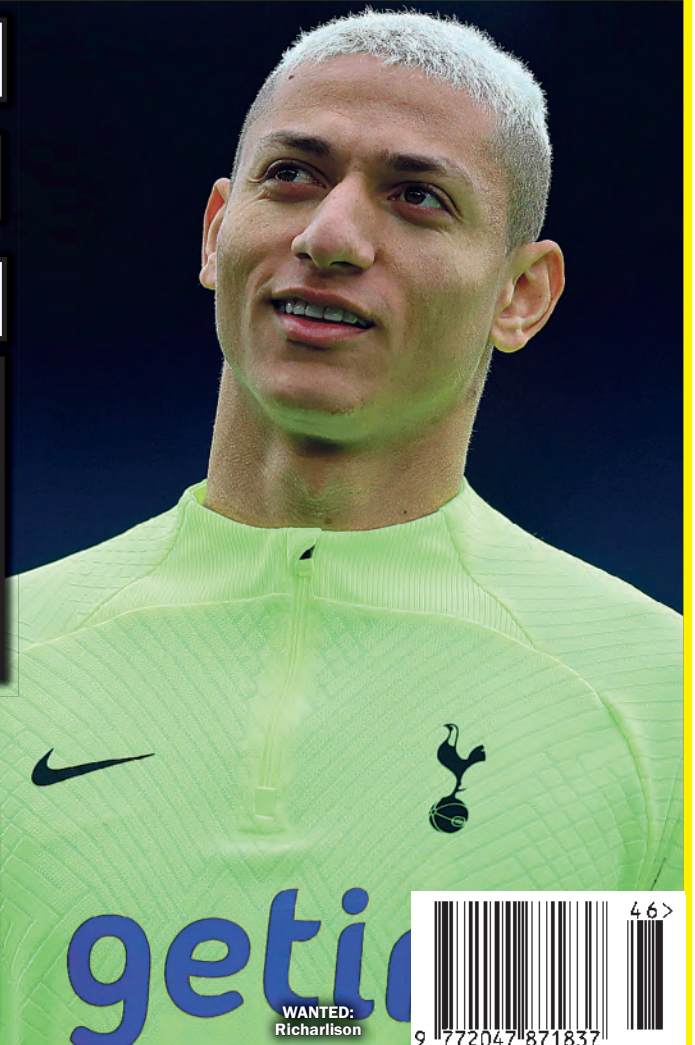

Making a decent profit on a player who has been struggling will be hard to turn down.

Several Premier League sides are bracing themselves for a raid by Middle East clubs with deep pockets.

Sources in Saudi suggest that

Bruno Fernandes could be heading east for £80m and may be joined by fellow Manchester United player Jadon Sancho who has been frozen out by boss Erik Ten Hag.

Former club Borussia Dortmund would like the wide man back in Germany but Al-Ettifaq want to bring in a big January signing and could make their move to beef up their stuttering season.
